When I was fifteen, I told my parents that I wanted to go to Rocky High School to be a pro baseball player. The school was famous for baseball, but my father did not allow me to go there. He only said, “You just cannot! Your brother and sister went to Benjamin High School. You should go there, too.” I could not understand him, and my mother said nothing. So ①I was sad.

Some days later, a coach at Rocky High school called my father. My father said to the coach, “Thank you for saying ②so, but I don’t think he can.” After calling, he told my mother and me that there were a lot of people who could play baseball as well as me, and that many of them would give up their dreams because it was hard to be a professional.

I thought about it again and again, but I could never change my mind. One day my mother said to me, “Your father doesn’t want you to go to Rocky High School. Do you know the reason?” I didn’t know it, but I told my mother that I still wanted to go there. Finally she understood me, and she allowed me to go to Rocky High School.

After that, my father and I talked about my determination. He said to me, “I played baseball in my junior high school, too. I found a lot of people better than I, and I gave up my dream to be a professional. I don’t want you to have the same experience as me. But, if you really want to be a professional, do the things you should do every day. Can you do that?” I looked at him straight and answered, “Yes, I can!” My father said, “I’m happy to hear that. Go to Rocky High School, John.”
